

BIOGRAPHY

UNITED STATES AIR FORCE

MASTER SERGEANT NICKOLAS P. DEVEAU

MSgt Nickolas DeVeau is an Officer Accessions Instructor for Aerospace Studies at Air Force ROTC Detachment 845, Texas Christian University. He is responsible for cadet development and instructs Aerospace Studies 200: "Team and Leadership Fundamentals." MSgt DeVeau further serves as a mentor to guide cadets to become Officers in The United States Air Force.

MSgt DeVeau entered the USAF in 2012 and has a diverse background in both Aircraft Armament Systems and Aircraft Metals Technology, bringing a unique combination of mechanical precision and technical versatility. As a Weapons troop, he was responsible for inspection, maintenance and loading of advanced munition systems for the F-16, ensuring combat readiness and safety of aircraft operations. In 2019, he retrained into Aircraft Metals Technology where he gained experience in welding, machining, metal fabrication and repair of critical components for the C-130, HH-60 and A-10 aircraft.
